A Message from Jeffrey Chalmers:

"Ready to refinance? Mortgage rates are historically low."

Everyone is Still Refinancing; FHA Refis at 3 Year High

Mortgage applications activity recovered strongly during the week ended December 6 after the usual Thanksgiving week lull. The Mortgage Bankers Association (MBA) said its Market Composite Index, which measures the volume of mortgage applications, increased 3.8 percent on a seasonally adjusted basis from the week ended November 29 and was 47 percent higher on an unadjusted basis. The earlier week's data had been adjusted to account for the holiday.

Refinancing continues to drive the market. The share of those applications made up 62.5 percent of the total submitted during the week, up from 59.0 percent the prior week. The Refinance Index rose 9 percent week-over-week and was 146 percent higher than the same week in 2018.

The seasonally adjusted Purchase Index decreased 0.4 percent from one week earlier but was 35 percent higher on an unadjusted basis. It was 5 percent higher than the same week one year ago.

Refi Index vs 30yr Fixed

Purchase Index vs 30yr Fixed

"Low mortgage rates continue to be the trend as 2019 comes to an end, and mortgage applications responded accordingly last week, rising 3.8 percent. The 30-year fixed mortgage rate remained under 4 percent for the fourth straight week, and rates for FHA loans declined close to their lowest level of the year," Joel Kan, MBA's Associate Vice President of Economic and Industry Forecasting. "The decrease in FHA rates led to a 27 percent jump in refinance applications for those loans, and their share of refinance activity - at 14 percent - was the highest since 2016. Purchase applications were down slightly, but were 5 percent higher than a year ago, which is in line with the gradual growth in the purchase market seen throughout this year."
