Mortgage Rates Unchanged to Slightly Higher

Mortgage rates were unchanged for some lenders today while others were in slightly higher territory. Either way, that leaves the average lender at the highest levels in more than 7 years. For what it's worth, there are a few lenders that were slightly worse off for a day or two earlier this year. In terms of outright levels, the average top-tier scenario is being quoted 4.875% today.

Why so high? Part of the problem is ongoing. A strong economy is not good for rates and neither is additional government borrowing--both big issues in 2018. Those big issues go hand-in-hand with a Federal Reserve that is more willing to hike its policy rate and shrink its balance sheet. We'll get a fresh update on the Fed's outlook tomorrow, and indeed, that could be part of the reason that rates are staging at long-term highs.

Simply put, the economic data and the supply/demand seen in the bond market (government borrowing creates more supply) look like writing on the wall, spelling out another warning about ongoing policy tightening from the Fed ("tightening" = "higher rates," in general). Now we're just waiting for the Fed to confirm they're seeing what we're seeing. That will happen starting at 2pm tomorrow, and it could be a source of this week's biggest dose of volatility for rates.
