ALERT: Jobless Claims "Only" 6.6 Million, But Fed Has Bigger News

- Jobless Claims 6.606 mlb, vs 6.867m previously
- Core Producer Prices (y/y) 1.4 vs 1.4 previously

Markets reacted immediately after the data, which raised the question as to why we were seeing stocks and yields move quickly higher. It turns out the Fed stole the show with a not-so-surprising surprise announcement. Why not so surprising? Word on the street has been that the CARES Act (rescue bill) could only have been as big as it was for political reasons, but that it's clear to policymakers that the economy will need more than $2 trillion + a few hundred billion in additional phases here and there. It has always fallen to the Fed to pick up the slack, even if we haven't known exactly what that would look like. Now we do. And it likely won't be the last time they unleash this sort of unprecedented accommodative fury.

- FED SAYS TAKES ADDITIONAL ACTIONS TO PROVIDE UP TO $2.3 TRILLION IN LOANS TO SUPPORT THE ECONOMY
