ALERT: Negative Reprice Risk Increasing For a Few Lenders

Lenders who priced very early in the morning or who offer overnight price protection are at risk of negative reprices as 2.0 coupons have given up gains. Trading is illiquid in MBS at the moment, but Treasury yields have spiked somewhat quickly after the 9:30am NYSE open (though not necessarily because of it).

10yr yields are now up half a bp on the day at .623%. 2.0 UMBS are down more than an eighth and trading just over 102.00.
